WSU-SOM Professionalism Hearing
February 8, 2019
Minutes

Chair: Matt Jackson, PhD

Voting Members Present: Collins, Joshua; Kupsky, William; Lasley, Robert; Levine, Diane; Rossi, Noreen; Walker, Paul

Other Members Present: DeLeeuw, Jessica; Nesbitt, Elizabeth; Roberts, Erika

Charged Party: Anthony Eid, M2 Class President

Charging Party: [REDACTED] and Pam [REDACTED]

9:00 AM: Dr. Jackson called the meeting to order. Committee members reviewed the case file.

9:54 AM: Ms. and Mrs. [REDACTED] ([REDACTED] mother) arrived. Ms. [REDACTED] provided a statement to the committee.

Ms. [REDACTED] explained that she met Mr. Eid one time during a 10-minute encounter at an annual main campus event, Festifall, in the fall of 2016. Mr. Eid offered to send Ms. [REDACTED] his old exams for an introductory Biology course. After their meeting, Mr. Eid claimed that his iCloud and Snapchat accounts were being hacked and insisted that Ms. [REDACTED] got access to his account when he sent her the Biology exams. Over a two-year period, Mr. Eid contacted Ms. [REDACTED] numerous times via text message and Facebook messenger (screenshots included in file) asking for her iCloud account password so that he could allegedly unlink her account from his. Ms. [REDACTED] explained that while she knew Mr. Eid's explanation was spurious, she caved to his demands in hopes that he would stop contacting her. Ms. [REDACTED] created a temporary password and gave it to Mr. Eid so that he could unlink their accounts. While Ms. [REDACTED] changed her password again after giving it to Mr. Eid, she suspected some of her accounts were being hacked due to unusual activity.

An email (impersonating Ms. [REDACTED]) was sent via an unfamiliar Gmail account to a photographer Ms. [REDACTED] worked with asking for the file of photos from the shoot. Ms. [REDACTED] explained that she had posted some of the more conservative pictures on her Instagram, but the overall tone of photos were intimate. The photographer called Ms. [REDACTED] directly about the inquiry so the impersonator did not end up with her pictures.

Additionally, someone hacked into Ms. [REDACTED] snapchat account and sent a message (impersonating her) to her ex-boyfriend asking for old nude pictures of her. Ms. [REDACTED] ex-boyfriend contacted her about the suspicious message. She realized someone was hacking her account, so she quickly turned on the GPS feature of the app. The GPS feature allows users live location to be visible by any of the user's friends on the app. Ms. [REDACTED] said that she was booted off the app immediately after she turned the GPS feature on her account, which she believes was the result of someone else being logged into her account. Ms. [REDACTED] friend was with her and pulled up the Snapchat app on her phone. She saw that Ms. [REDACTED] location was showing up as near WSU's campus (screenshot included in file), on the corner of Selden and Gibson. Ms. [REDACTED] was not physically on-campus at the time. She immediately suspected Mr. Eid was the one hacking her account, but did not have any way of confirming her suspicion. Ms. [REDACTED] explained that she believed it was Mr. Eid since he was the only one who had access to her accounts, and did not have any reason to assume it was anyone else. When asked why she thought Mr. Eid wanted to gain access to her accounts, Mr. [REDACTED] said she believes he wanted to gain access to her personal photos.

Dr. Jackson pulled up Mr. Eid's student profile in STARS which listed his current address as 1247 Selden. Ms. Roberts searched the address iPhone Maps and confirmed that Mr. Eid's address is the located on the corner of Selden and Gibson. Ms. and Mrs. [REDACTED] were visible shaken upon hearing this.

According to Ms. [REDACTED] the account hacks and imposter Instagram accounts stopped in August 2018 after she persistently told Mr. Eid to stop contacting her. Mr. Eid had ceased contacting Ms. [REDACTED] until October 26, 2018, when he texted her stating that his lawyer sent Ms. [REDACTED] an email regarding a court hearing she was allegedly being summonsed for on November 15, 2018. Ms. [REDACTED] indeed received an email from a lawyer, Alexander Wolff-Smith, claiming to be from a law firm in Lake Orion. To confirm the legitimacy of the email, Ms. [REDACTED] called the law firm and confirmed that an Alexander Wolff-Smith does not work there. She also noticed that the address of the law firm was slightly doctored from that of the actual law firm in Lake Orion. Additionally, Mrs. [REDACTED] pulled the 36th District Court docket (screenshot included in file) for the court date noted in the email from Mr. Eid's lawyer. Numerous cases were on the docket that day for individuals with the last name [REDACTED] [REDACTED] was not one of them.

Ms. [REDACTED] said that she felt horrified during the two-year period of harassment. She also regularly experienced anxiety due to the potential of running into Mr. Eid on campus. Ms. [REDACTED] was fearful of what he would do if they crossed paths. Due to anxiety, both related and unrelated to the incident with Mr. Eid, Ms. [REDACTED] dropped out of WSU and moved to Colorado Springs, Colorado. Ms. [REDACTED] said that she is much happier living and working in Colorado. Mrs. [REDACTED] said that her and her husband have been fearful for [REDACTED] because of Mr. Eid, and feel somewhat of a relief now that she is living across the country.

Mrs. [REDACTED] explained that she contacted Dr. Chadwell after main campus' investigation through the Dean of Students Office on main campus did not fully address the incident nor involve the SOM. Mrs. [REDACTED] is a nurse at Children's Hospital and was encouraged by physicians that she works with the further pursue the issue with the SOM directly. Both she and

Ms. [REDACTED] are worried that Mr. Eid is capable of doing the same thing or much worse to others, especially vulnerable individuals as a medical student and future physician. Mrs. and Ms. [REDACTED] believe Mr. Eid should not be allowed to become a physician, and are seriously concerned about potential retribution from Mr. Eid as a possible result of him being dismissed from medical school. Dr. Jackson assured Mrs. and Ms. [REDACTED] that he would maintain contact with public safety. Dr. Jackson also asked Mrs. and Ms. [REDACTED] to contact him or Dr. Chadwell immediately if Mr. Eid tries to contact her.

10:33 AM: Ms. and Mrs. [REDACTED] left. The committee briefly discussed Mrs. and Ms. [REDACTED] testimony.

10:37 AM: Ms. Roberts called Student Affairs and asked them to send Mr. Eid over to the hearing in Scott Hall 2238. Mr. Eid was asked to wait in Student Affairs in order to avoid a run-in between him and Mrs. and Ms. [REDACTED] while they were on-campus for the hearing.

10:50 AM: Mr. Eid arrived. Anthony Eid read the statement he provided (included in file) to the committee and also detailed the action plan he devised to remediate his unprofessional behavior. In his action plan, Mr. Eid said he would:

1. Start meeting with a psychiatrist regularly. His first appointment is scheduled for February 13.
2. Meet with Ms. Robichaud at least once a month.
3. Take an online ethics class this summer.
4. Requested an opportunity to write apology letter to Ms. [REDACTED] and have someone from committee deliver it to her.
5. Write a reflection on the incident.

Mr. Eid explained that his accounts, including Capitol One and ESPN, were began getting hacked around 3-4 months after his one-time meeting with Ms. [REDACTED]. Mr. Eid said he believes Ms. [REDACTED] was the one hacking his accounts since he gave her his iCloud password in the process of sending the Biology exams at Festifall. Mr. Eid stated that he has various accounts, including Capitol One, linked to his iCloud account. After changing his password numerous times, he was still getting hacked. Mr. Eid explained that although he told Ms. [REDACTED] via text that he has shared his password with other people, he admitted lying to Ms. [REDACTED] so that she would take the situation seriously. Mr. Eid said that Ms. [REDACTED] is the only person who had his iCloud password. Additionally, when questioned about his contact with Apple Support, the Police, and a lawyer, Mr. Eid admitted that he lied about having engaged with any of those entities. He stated that he wanted Ms. [REDACTED] take the situation with his account being hacked seriously. Mr. Eid said that although he gave Ms. [REDACTED] the impression he had a lawyer, he lied. When asked numerous times if he sent the email impersonating a lawyer or if he knew who would have done so on his behalf, Mr. Eid denied both. The email (included in file) is timestamped for Thursday, October 25, 2018. The committee questioned why Mr. Eid sent a text (screenshot included in file) to Ms. [REDACTED] asking if she had received the email his lawyer sent the day prior. Mr. Eid again stated that he did not have a lawyer (or knew who sent the email), and that he just wanted Ms. [REDACTED] to take the situation seriously. When Dr. Rossi told Mr. Eid that habitual lying is a character flaw, and he agreed. Dr. Rossi went on to note that character flaws are extremely difficult to correct, if not impossible; she asked Mr. Eid's thoughts on that since he studied Psychology as an undergraduate. Mr. Eid agreed with Dr. Rossi's statement, but explained that he would work extremely hard to correct his behavior.

When the committee asked Mr. Eid if he had accessed any of Ms. [REDACTED] accounts, he denied hacking into her accounts. Dr. Jackson asked Mr. Eid to confirm his address during October 2017. Mr. Eid said that he was living at his current residence, 1247 Selden, just off-campus.

The committee asked Mr. Eid if he believed his behavior towards Ms. [REDACTED] was harassment. Mr. Eid said that he did not know of the formal definition of harassment, but does not believe he was harassing Ms. [REDACTED]. Dr. Levine explained that harassment is repeated unwanted contact, and that Mr. Eid was exhibiting that. Mr. Eid also noted that this is the only incident where he exhibited unprofessional behavior. Additionally, he referenced his good record at WSU for the past 9 years and does not want to tarnish it. Mr. Eid was a part of Student Senate during his undergraduate, and is the current President for the Class of 2021.

In his closing statements, Mr. Eid reiterated many of the thoughts mentioned in his opening statement. He would like the opportunity to remediate his behavior. He stated that he has always wanted to be a physician and would be devastated if he could not become one.

10:50 AM: Mr. Eid left the hearing, and the committee deliberated.

Although the committee does not know whether Mr. Eid sent the email impersonating the lawyer, they believe the other evidence is enough to base their decision on. The committee focused on Mr. Eid's repeated lying and harassment towards Ms. [REDACTED] as well as the screenshot of Ms. [REDACTED] snapchat location appearing as Mr. Eid's residence. The committee unanimously decided that Mr. Eid's behavior was not consistent with that of a future physician, and that they do not feel comfortable letting Mr. Eid further pursue his medical education.

Dr. Walker made a motion that the Professionalism Committee recommend to the Promotions Committee that Mr. Eid be dismissed from the SOM. Dr. Collins seconded. The committee was unanimously in favor.

12:11 PM: Dr. Jackson dismissed the committee.

Write-In Answer

Anthony Eid has been harassing me since 2016. I met him at the fair where all the clubs are set up outside. It was before my freshman year began. I was at the biology tent and I met anthony. I told him I was on the premed track and taking bio 1510. He told me he had old exams he could send me and I thought wow, how helpful of this guy! After he sent me the materials I didn't hear from him for about a month. That is when he contacted me again saying that his accounts had been hacked, and he needed my email information to delete his cookies from the hack. He said he needed the personal passwords of everyone he had contacted recently to delete these "cookies". He said the connection was from sending me the documents. I'd like to add that those documents were sent through gmail. But he asked for my iCloud password and information. I refused to give it to him because it seemed next to impossible that that was a real situation. He texted me, Facebook messaged me, and contacted me through other social media extensively and I would not answer because I felt uncomfortable. I finally gave him a password for my account so he would stop continuously harassing me almost every single day. I thought all was fine until all of my social media accounts started getting hacked shortly thereafter. One time I was hacked and was able to track the location right to two crossroads on Wayne state's campus. I believe he is the one that has constantly hacked my accounts. After a while and thinking I was finally free of dealing with him, he comes back to say "there was an issue, I need your password again". I asked him to leave me alone where he took it upon himself to tell me that he "is the leader of the community at Wayne state and I could change your life". Those types of texts messages and harassment came quite often. I thought I was finally free of him till I recieved a text message about a month ago. He told me that his accounts got hacked again, and he went to the police. He said that the police gave him my address and phone number connected to the hacking (which I do not believe police would ever do, and also don't believe it's possible). He said that somehow from my phone and address his Snapchat account had been hacked and that our Snapchat accounts had become "linked"- which night I add, is virtually impossible. He said he needed my Snapchat password to fix this problem. I said leave me alone, do not contact me again. Then on Friday, I recieved a text from anthony saying to check my email because I should be expecting something from his lawyer. It was an email from a "lawyer" from the Wolff-Smith law firm saying I was suppose to appear in court on November 15, 2018 for small claims that he had filled against me. You will read in what I've done to resolve this that he impersonated a lawyer and tried to harass and scare me with a fake court date. He has gone THIS far to try and get my Snapchat password- I assume for the pictures saved through the app. I assume that's why back then he wanted my iCloud information. For my pictures. I've also had three instances where someone has made fake accounts of me and contacted a previous photographer I did a photoshoot with and claimed I "lost the file with all the pictures from the shoot, can you resend it?" Luckily the photographer contacted the real me each time. I can't confirm it was anthony, but I have a strong gut feeling. He has been harassing me for over two years and to go the far is absolutely mind blowing and disgusting on his part.

What have you done to resolve the situation? Include details of the people/offices contacted and the method of contact.

I called the Wolff-Smith law firm in lake Orion Michigan, to confirm that the email from Anthony's "lawyer" was not from them nor any of their lawyers. I called the 36th district court house and I am not on the docket for November 15, 2018.

What is the outcome you are requesting?

I am hoping he cannot do this to another student. He is abusing his power as being one of the top of the class at med school and using it as an in to harass people. I am hoping that he hasn't done this to anyone else, but I am not sure. I am hoping that he can be reprimanded for harassing me, for pretending to be a lawyer, and faking a court case, in attempt to get my passwords for my social media accounts. I wish for him to be held accountable for targeting impressionable female students and to no longer be harassed by him. As well as no other female student being harassed by him. If necessary I have all of the text messages he's ever sent me with proof. I'll include a few screenshots right now.

COMPLAINANT STATEMENT

The Complainant and AD Nikolina Camaj had a meeting via phone on November 15, 2018. During the meeting, the Complainant reviewed her Complaint Report and confirmed that the statement she documented in the Complaint Report submitted on October 29, 2018 was accurate. The Complainant stated that she would submit text messages sent between her and the Respondent from November 17, 2016 until October 26, 2018.

The Complainant reported that she was being harassed by the Respondent and did inform her parents recently about her concerns. She further confirmed that she filed a police report in Colorado and has since spoken to Wayne State University Police Department. The Complainant then affirmed that she contacted the Wolff-Smith law firm in Lake Orion Michigan to confirm that the email address used did not belong to one of their lawyers. The Complainant added that she contacted the 36th District Court House and confirmed that her name was not on the docket for November 15, 2018.

The Complainant established that she has not received further communication from the Respondent as of October 26, 2018. She does not want any further contact with the Respondent. The Complainant has come forward to report the matter so that other students are negatively impacted by the Respondent should he be harassing other WSU students.

RESPONDENT STATEMENT

The Respondent and AD Nikolina Camaj had a meeting in person on November 30, 2018. AD Camaj informed the Respondent that she was investigating a Complaint sent to the Dean of Students Office and Medical College. AD Camaj explained that the complaint was in reference to Harassment and Academic Misconduct.

WAYNE STATE UNIVERSITY

Division of Academic Affairs
Dean of Students Office

During the meeting, the Respondent confirmed that he knew the Complainant and met her family at the student organization fair (FestiFall) three to four years prior [He corrected his statement when presented with text message evidence and affirmed they met in August 2016.] When asked about the nature of his communication with the Complainant, the Respondent stated that he only sent text messages to the Complainant in an effort to fix his account which he claimed was hacked. [He corrected his statement and confirmed that he also sent her messages on Facebook when presented with text messages.] The Respondent indicated that he did not save any of the text messages between him and the Complainant.

The Respondent detailed that he was pursuing a civil case against the Complainant in the 36th District Court as he believes she was the one hacking his accounts. When asked to identify materials he shared with the Complainant in 2016, the Respondent stated that he provided her with text books. [He corrected his statement when presented with text message evidence and affirmed he sent her BIO test/exam "bench mark" questions also.]

When asked if he had a lawyer, the Respondent stated that he did not have a lawyer as he wrote to the Complainant and was searching for legal counsel online. The Respondent also stated that he did not send the email to the Complainant pretending to be a lawyer. He further reported that he did not file a police report as he indicated in his text message to the Complainant. He also acknowledged that it was not the Apple store staff who gave him instructions how to fix his account, but he researched the information online. The Respondent explained that he "stretched the truth", misled the Complainant in his text messages.

Lastly, the Respondent confirmed that he is no longer in contact with the Complainant. When asked why he contacted the Complainant initially, the Respondent explained that he wanted to be friends and help her in her BIO class by providing bench mark exam questions. AD Camaj informed the Respondent that he could submit a statement in reference to the Complaint.

Based on the submitted Complaint form, statements provided, and evidence, I am referring this case to the Wayne State University School of Medicine for adjudication and review.

Note:

- The Retaliation policy was reviewed and discussed with the Complainant and Respondent.
- The Respondent and Complainant were instructed to cease all communication with each other and both agreed.

Anthony Eid

Statement regarding reported incident

To Whom It May Concern:

I met [REDACTED] [REDACTED] (and her parents) at Festifall 2016. She was a freshmen student at the time and was clearly stressed about starting school. I introduced myself and we exchanged phone numbers. I later offered her a pdf copy of a few textbooks and old practice test materials for classes that she was taken that I had taken in years past (I had taken some of the same classes, taught by different professors, back in 2010/2011) that were stored on my iCloud account. She was grateful and thanked me for the textbooks.

On social media, I noticed [REDACTED] had been making frequent posts on Twitter where she was clearly in a depressed state of mind. Posts would range from worrying about performance in school, not sleeping, drug use, and mental illness. At this point, I decided to reach out again to offer support. One text message was particularly embellishing, I suppose in my immaturity I thought that appealing to vanity might help foster a friendship. As was stated at the end of the text message, I wanted nothing more than a completely platonic friendship. At the time, I had been dating my significant other for eight years (we will now be celebrating our ten-year anniversary this month). We are both very much in love and I would never do anything to ruin the sanctity of our relationship.

After this happened, I noticed that my iCloud account would routinely be accessed by someone. As I knew [REDACTED] had access to my account from when I sent her the pdf textbooks, so I thought that it was her that accessing my accounts. I did not know if this was purposeful, and I read on a tech subreddit (on the tech forums of reddit) that the problem may have stemmed from when she accessed my account the first time. At this point, I just wanted my account to be fixed, so I asked [REDACTED] if she could assist me in either meeting in person, in a public place like a coffee shop, to try to fix it, or changing her password to a different one temporarily so I could try to fix this account (please note, I was not asking for her actual password, but a temporary one that could be changed right after attempting to fix the account). Much of this took place in early 2017. To the best of my recollection, I did not have much communication with her from mid-2017 until August 2018 when I received another message that my account had once again been accessed at an address I thought was connected to her. If there was communication between these times, it was infrequent with months between them.

The last communication I had with [REDACTED] was on October 27th, when I received no less than eight calls from a private number, and then one from a phone number: 719-418-5394 in Colorado Springs, CO; that I can only assume was either [REDACTED] or one of her associates. When I answered the phone, I was told a racial slur and hate speech that made me extremely upset. The person on the line said "enjoy this country while you are still in it, you dirty Arab". I thought about reporting this to the police or to the university, but I did not. I did not think it would do any good as [REDACTED] was not a student and I didn't want to go through the added stress of filing a police report at the time.

Currently, I have absolutely no communication with [REDACTED] I deleted her number after the racial slur/hate speech and had already had her blocked on all social media including: Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, and Snapchat. I also do not want any further communication with her at all.

I take full responsibility for the text messages/Facebook messages that were sent to [REDACTED] I deeply regret how this incident has taken place. I understand that I lied to this person about many things, and I am very sorry about that. I never had a lawyer like I stated I did in the messages, and while I did consider suing for damages in civil court regarding this issue, I never did go file in court for any such damages. I said these things so [REDACTED] would work with me to fix this issues with my account and so she would take me seriously. It was wrong, and I should have been more honest with her. This represents a major character flaw that I know I feel terribly about. I promise that I will be working on myself to fix this flaw, through deep self-reflection and perhaps professional help if deemed necessary. Everyone makes mistakes, and while I try to hold myself to the upmost ethical standards, I myself am not perfect. I am not a frequent liar, and in fact I think I'm terrible at it. This was a onetime incident, and I have no other incidents or relationships like this one that has happened with [REDACTED] This was a potential friendship gone wrong, and I will be very careful in the future to make sure nothing like this happens ever again.

I have also learned a valuable lesson from this incident. In my own hubris I thought I could handle an issue myself, without thinking how [REDACTED] felt about the situation. This was also a grave mistake. I now know that if anything like this were to happen in the future, I should take it up with the proper authorities such as the police, Apple, and C&IT instead of trying to fix it on my own. In retrospect, If I had done this in the first place, I probably would not have needed [REDACTED] assistance at all.

My reputation is very important to me. I am currently in my ninth year of studies at Wayne State University. I have earned three degrees from this institution and am half way through the highest degree that the university bestows upon studetns. During my time here, I have surveyed the community in many different capacities. I was an RA for four years, I was the student body president on main campus, I have volunteered my time in countless student organizations and other places in the community, I am currently the president of my class, participate frequently and present research, and am overall an upstanding student. I have been awarded and recognized for my service in many ways, ranging from major awards from different offices on campus, to scholarships and general recognition. These are only possible because my peers trust me.

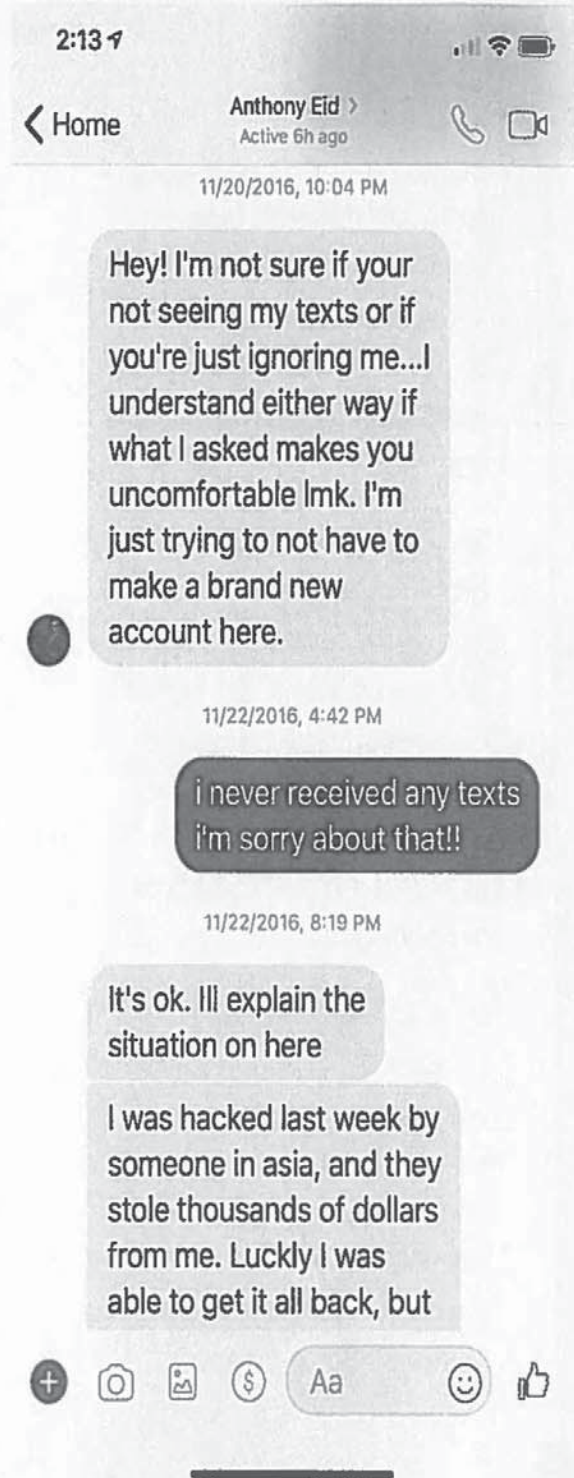

During these activities, I have met quite literally thousands of students. I would like to note that this is the first time any student has reported any incident of alleged harassment about me in any form over the last nine years I have been a member of this community.

In my eyes, while these actions do represent a character flaw that I deeply regret, I think it is also important to note that the actions in themselves are not a medical school issue, but rather a civil one. It is not against the student code of conduct of the medical school to mislead a 3rd party individual, who was not a student at the time the alleged incident took place, about a private matter that has nothing to do with the University, Medicine, the or my studies. I also do not think this meets the legal criteria of "harassment", and to the best of my knowledge, I have not been charged with any crime alleging harassment, or any other charges related to this incident. This incident has no bearing, in any way on my studies, and the alleged harassment did not take place on campus grounds. If [REDACTED] would like to file civil charges against me, I would be happy to defend myself in a court of law.

With that said, the fact that I may have hurt [REDACTED] or that she perceived my actions in a different way than what was intended do not sit well with my conscience. I would welcome the opportunity to forgo the racial slur/hate speech and write her a sincere apology letter to try to atone for my actions. If the university could facilitate delivery of this letter somehow, I would appreciate it.

Sincerely,

stole thousands of dollars from me. Luckily I was able to get it all back, but since then ive been trying to figure out how they were able to get into my account

So Apple did some digging and told me that its bc they were able to use saved log in data from cookies that were stored on my computer. So now I have to delete those cookies in order to secure my account

Prob is, my comp has cookies from everyone who has logged in, which is kidna a lot of ppl haha. So for the past week ive been going around trying to talk to everyone that has to solve the issue

Your name was on the list from that time I haave you those old Bio exams

So would it be ok if I logged into the account, deleted the cookies from my computer, and then logged off? I promise I'm not going to hack you or anything lol. I'm just trying to secure my account so this does not happen again

Good Morning David,
Please see below regarding the complaint filed by former WSU student [REDACTED] Pam [REDACTED] is her mother -- she contacted me yesterday on the recommendation of the physician she works for Children's Hospital where she has been a nurse for 13 years. I would like to get your input on this - let me know when we could discuss,
Thank you,

Dear Pam,
Thank you for sharing your concerns regarding one of our medical students, Anthony Eid, and for the supporting documentation. Per our discussion yesterday and your description below, this is a police matter and will be primarily addressed as such. I do see in the filed complaint with WSU that a copy was sent to Dean of Students David Strauss. I will be following up with him and address this with the appropriate university channels as the process takes its course.
Sincerely,
Margit Chadwell

Hello Dr. Chadwell- Thank you for taking time and listening to our concerns today, as well as for helping with some further suggestions. My daughter is [REDACTED] [REDACTED] [REDACTED] DOB [REDACTED]. Her phone number is [REDACTED]. I talked with her after I spoke with you and please feel free to contact whenever needed. I had mentioned she tried to file the police report in Colorado on Monday, but she had to go to work. I also mentioned she contacted the police again Tuesday and they were sending someone to her apartment but she again had to go to work. Since today is

Halloween, she thought they would be very busy. She has tomorrow, Thursday 11/1, off work and will contact the police again to file the report. She will also ask about the PPO as you had suggested and find out if she needs one in both Colorado and Michigan(or maybe it covers both). After she files the police report in Colorado, she is to call WSU police back to let them know. She'll give WSU police permission to communicate with you at that time. I have attached documents we discussed plus a couple more. The first is the complaint [REDACTED] filed with the WSU police. The next three are sample text from Anthony Eid, which have his name at the top. The Preliminary Hearing 36th District Court attachment is what was emailed from Anthony's lawyer. As [REDACTED] states in the WSU Complaint, she called and verified this was not from the law firm on the email. The email address has an extra "r" and the mailing address leaves off a number. Also, my husband works for the Department of Defense and spoke with lawyers at work to verify that such a document would not be sent by email. Also of note, for civil cases, there are not lawyers involved was also verified. The next two are screen shots of the 36th District Court Docket for 11/15. They show that a [REDACTED] is on the docket for that day, although it is not [REDACTED]. The next screen shot shows that is for a traffic/drivers license issue, not a civil case. [REDACTED] also called the 36th district court to confirm that she is not on the docket. But the 11/15 date was picked to scare or intimidate her, since there is a [REDACTED] listed. This may have been to lure her to a specific location on a specific date, threaten with up to a $5000 claim to obtain money or to obtain her passwords. As I mentioned during our discussion, I am very concerned about someone with this character becoming a doctor. I would not want this type of person caring for my family, friends or any patients/families. Please feel free to contact me for anything further, as well as update me when you are able to.

Thank you,

Pam [REDACTED]

Hello Ms. [REDACTED]

My name is Alexander Wolff-Smith. I am representing a Mr. Eid in an ongoing small claims court case that has been filed vs You. According to my research, you no longer reside in Michigan. Therefore, this email acts as a friendly reminder and good gesture to alert you of your court date at the 36th District Court in Detroit, MI on 11/15/2018 regarding the small claims case. Failure to appear will result in a default judgment against you, which under Michigan law can be up to $5000.

I strongly encourage you to settle this matter out of court with my client. My client's primary goal is not money, but to instead regain total control of his various online and social media accounts that have been breached due to interactions between the two of you and an outside entity that acted as malicious hacker (who has since been apprehended). If you wish to settle this out of court, you may contact my client at 248-310-8610. Otherwise, he will see you in court on 11/15/2018.

Best Wishes

Dear Members of the Promotions Committee:

Medical school is more than learning about the art of healing- it's also a time to develop the traits of a physician: honesty, professionalism, and integrity. When it came to exhibit these important qualities, I was severely lacking. I would like to take this opportunity to explain myself and act to remediate my mistakes in order to develop into the physician that the WSUSOM believed I could become.

I met [REDACTED] [REDACTED] (and her parents) at Festifall 2016. She was a freshmen student at the time and was clearly stressed about starting school. I introduced myself and we exchanged phone numbers. Shortly after, I later offered her a pdf copy of a few textbooks and old practice test materials for classes that she was taking that I had taken in years past (I had taken some of the same classes, taught by different professors, back in 2010/2011) that were stored on my iCloud account on my personal computer. She was grateful and thanked me for the help.

On social media, I noticed [REDACTED] had been making frequent posts on Twitter where she was clearly in a depressed state of mind. Posts would range from worrying about performance in school, not sleeping, drug use, and mental illness. These included "I feel so (expletive) helpless", "Always (expletive) up no matter what I do", "I am not happy with the life I am living", "I thought I had reached an all time low before, but nothing compares to the feeling of defeat that is overcoming me right now". These tweets took place in 2017. At this point, I decided to reach out again to offer support.

One text message was particularly embellishing, I suppose in my immaturity I thought that appealing to vanity might help foster a friendship. As was stated at the end of the text message, I wanted nothing more than a completely platonic friendship. At the time, I had been dating my significant other for eight years (we will now be celebrating our ten-year anniversary this month). We are both very much in love and I would never do anything to ruin the sanctity of our relationship.

After this happened, I noticed that my iCloud account would routinely be breeched and accessed by someone. My iCloud account had many pieces of deeply personal and sentimental items stored on it, including all of my photos, passwords to other accounts, contacts, school material, tax documents, social security card, and diverse license. As I knew [REDACTED] had accessed and had the password to my iCloud account from when I sent her the pdf textbooks, I thought that it was her that accessing my accounts. I did not know if this was purposeful, and I read on a tech subreddit (on the tech forums of reddit) that the problem may have stemmed from when she accessed my account the first time. At this point, I just wanted my account to be fixed, so I asked [REDACTED] if she could assist me in either meeting in person, in a public place like a coffee shop, to try to fix it, or changing her password to a different one temporarily so I could try to fix this account (please note, I was not asking for her actual password, but a temporary one that could be changed right after attempting to fix the account). Much of this took place in early 2017. To the best of my recollection, I did not have much communication with her from mid-2017 until August 2018 when I received another message that my account had once again been accessed at an address I thought was connected to her. If there was communication between these times, it was infrequent with months between them.

During this time, I have had many of my accounts breeched. These included my iCloud, Google, Capitol One, and Flagstar Bank accounts. I can produce a police report of the latest breach (which took place on 2/9/19, when $80 was stolen from my Flagstar account), and documentation of other times my accounts had been breached if this committee would like to see them. I was, and still am, fearful because of this situation. I feel like I have been personally attacked, that my privacy has been taken away from me, and that my identity has been stolen. I have to constantly check every month to make sure that there are no new beaches or unauthorized charges attributed to me due to this issue. This fearfulness is the main contrubting factor for the actions that I had taken to try to fix the issue.

The last communication I had with [REDACTED] was on October 27th, when I received no less than eight calls from a private number, and then one from a phone number: 719-418-5394 in Colorado Springs, CO; that I can only assume was either [REDACTED] or one of her associates. When I answered the phone, I was told a racial slur and hate speech that made me extremely upset. The person on the line said "enjoy this country while you are still in it, you dirty Arab". I thought about reporting this to the police or to the university, but I did not. I did not think it would do any good as [REDACTED] was not a student and I didn't want to go through the added stress of filing a police report at the time.

Since that day, I have had absolutely no communication with [REDACTED] I deleted her number after the racial slur/hate speech and had already had her blocked on all social media including: Facebook, Instagram, Twitter, and Snapchat. I also do not want any further communication with her at all.

I take full responsibility for the text messages/Facebook messages that were sent to [REDACTED] I deeply regret how this incident has taken place. I understand that I lied to this person about many things, and I am very sorry about that. I never had a lawyer like I stated I did in the text messages, and while I did consider suing for damages in civil court regarding this issue, I never did go file in court for any such damages. I never sent her any court correspondences.

None the less, I did send the text messages. I said these things so [REDACTED] would work with me to fix this issues with my account and so she would take me seriously so I could fix my account. It was wrong, I was scared, and I should have been more honest with her.

In hindsight, I know that the actions I took were not the right course of action to take in this mater, and I feel terribly about the whole situation. I promise that I will be working on myself to make better decisions in the future, through deep self-reflection and professional help. Everyone makes mistakes, and while I try to hold myself to the upmost ethical standards, I myself am not perfect. I am not a frequent liar, and in fact I think I'm terrible at it. This was a onetime incident, and I have no other incidents or relationships like this one that has happened with [REDACTED] This was a potential friendship gone wrong, and I will be very careful in the future to make sure nothing like this happens ever again.

I have also learned a valuable lesson from this incident. In my own hubris I thought I could handle this issue myself, without thinking how [REDACTED] felt about the situation. This was also a grave mistake. I now know that if anything like this were to happen in the future, I should take it up with the proper authorities such as the police, Apple, and C&IT instead of trying to fix it on my own. In retrospect, If I had done this in the first place, I probably would not have needed [REDACTED] assistance at all.

I was deeply surprised and distraught with the professionalism committee's recommendation, and I do not understand it on my levels. I am confused as to which specific code of conduct or school of medicine policies that I have broken. I think it is also important to note that the actions in themselves are not a medical school issue, but rather a civil one in my eyes. My accuser was not a student at the time the alleged incident took place and was only a student at this university for one semester (to the best of my knowledge), so I do not understand how this could fall under student mistreatment. While the professionalism committee's letter seemed to focus on "harassment" and "misrepresentation", I have not been charged with any crime alleging harassment, or any other chargers related to this incident, even though the police were made aware of this situation in October. I am confused as to how the professionalism committee's decision can accuse me of these crimes even though I have not been by the proper authorities. I would like to reiterate that this whole situation has no bearing, in any way on my studies, my future patients, or any other members of the SOM community.

My reputation is very important to me. I am currently in my ninth year of studies at Wayne State University. I have earned three degrees from this institution and am half way through the highest degree that the university bestows upon students. During my time here, I have surveyed the community in many different capacities. I was an RA for four years, I was the student body president on main campus, I have volunteered my time in countless student organizations and other places in the community, including over one hundred hours in our own co-curricular MPAC program, I am currently the president of my class, participate frequently and present research around the country, and am overall an upstanding student. I have been awarded and recognized for my service in many ways, ranging from major awards from different offices on campus, to scholarships and general recognition. I have sat on many different committees with the members of this committee, and I feel as if you know the kind of person that I am. I say this, because being able to do these activities are only possible because my peers trust me, and I would never do purposely do anything to violate the trust that this community has instilled in me.

During these activities that I just mentioned, I have met quite literally thousands of students, faculty members, and patients in need at our clinics. I would like to note that this is the first time anyone has reported any incident of alleged harassment about me in any form over the last nine years I have been a member of this community, and overall, I feel like I represent the WSUSOM very well.

No pressure, strain, or hardships should ever allow one to compromise their integrity, but I let that happen to me and I will be forever be remorseful. Unlike when I began medical school,

I know now that I cannot undertake this journey by myself. I have been reflecting on my actions daily, and I will never let this happen again.

I won't be able to forgive myself for this uncharacteristic behavior. I want this to be a chance for growth, and hopefully not a career-ending mistake. I know that this isn't who I am as a person, a student, or a doctor-in-training, and I have a plan to make sure nothing like this will ever happen again.

The fact that I may have hurt [REDACTED] does not sit well with my conscience. I have created an action plan in order to better myself and show this committee that I take these charges seriously.

- 1) I have started to see a psychiatrist, Dr. Richard Balon of the WSUPG. I am hoping his advice and medical treatment will not only better me as a person regarding this incident, but also help me with the toll this M2 year has taken on me thus far. I will be seeing Dr. Balon and members of his team weekly. I have already had my first appointment and have two more scheduled currently for the first week of March.
- 2) I will be taking an online ethics class, either at WSU, OCC, or MCC this summer, and I would like to show this committee completion of this class. I am hoping that taking this class will addresses standards of responsible choice making through analysis, evaluation, and construction of well thought out arguments.
- 3) I would welcome the opportunity to forgo the racial slur/hate speech and write her a sincere apology letter to try to atone for my actions. If the university could facilitate delivery of this letter somehow, I would appreciate it.
- 4) I would like to write a detailed reflection on how I have learned from this experience.
- 5) I am going to be meeting with Ms. Robichaud, our class counselor, more readily, once a week. I hope this will act as a check in, a chance to touch base and keep a better line of communication between me and the SOM.
- 6) As I have stated above, I have not had any contact with [REDACTED] since October, and never plan to ever again. It has been six months' time since this situation occurred, and there seem to be no new developments in this matter.
- 7) I will do absolutely anything that this committee deems necessary to continue my medical education.

I do not think that this single situation, a first offense made from fear and will never happen again; should undue all the literal blood, sweat, tears, sleepless nights, hard work studying, and hundreds of thousands of dollars that I have worked for and invested over the past nine years to make it as far as I have. I believe the recommendation of the professionalism committee to be extreme for the actions that have taken place, like I am receiving the death penalty for shoplifting. I want to emphasize to this committee that I do see a way forward through this situation, and I hope that you agree that there is a way forward, through the action plan that I listed above, for me to continue my medical education.

Medical School is the single defining factor of my identity. Becoming a physician is all that I have ever wanted to do since I was five years old. Without it, I will truly be lost. Irreputable harm will be done to my future. I understand the difficult decision this committee has to make regarding my future, and I'm truly sorry to have put you all in a position like this. I hope that you find I am worth investing in. I am asking for a second chance to prove it.

Sincerely,
